Mr. Arthur had been suirely senseless for hours, and died at 5 e'clock this morning without a struggle.

All reports to the contrary, Mr. Arthur's health had not improved during his stay at New London six weeks ago, and at his return on Oct. 1 be was no better than when he left the city. As time passed no permanent improvement came and the physicians feared some such sudden stroke as the cree to which he succumbed. In his enfectbed condition even a light stroke of apoplexy would prove fatal to the once robust patient. With the beginning of the present week a marked change for the better set in. Tuesday the ex-President feit better and stronger than at any time since he was taken sick, and commented hopefully upon the fact.

SERVER OF HIS LIFE.

EX-President Chester Allan Arthur was born in Fairfield, Franklin county, Vt., on the 5th of October, 1830, being the eldest of the family of two sons and three daughters born to the Rev. Vm. Arthur, a Baptist clergyman, who came to this country from Antrim, in the north of Ireland, at the age of 18, and died at Newtonville, near Albany, Oct. 27, 1873. Dr. Arthur was in many respects a remarkable man. He acquired extended fame, not only in his calling, but also in the domain of authorship. His other son made a gallant record in the war of the rebellion, and is now a paymaster of the regular army, with the rank of major.

When a lad young Chester Arthur enjoyed at home the tutelage of his father, whose thorough knowledge of the classies enabled him to lay a broad and deep foundation for his son's future education. After the cuatomary New England schooling, Chester Arthur entered Union College at Scheneciady in 1845, being graduated in his class after a four years' course, during which he supported himself by teaching. After teaching school for two years in his native state, being part of the time principal of the North Pownal Academy, having saved a capital of some $400 or $500, Mr. Arthur set out for New York, intending to practice law which, he had studied.

While engaged in teaching at New York he continued his law studies in the effice of ex-Judge E. D. Curver, and then formed a partnership with his friend, Henry D. Gardiner.

Mr. Arthurfbegan to take interest in political affairs very early in life. He was a delegate to the Saratoga convention that founded the Republican party in New York state, and previous to the outbreak of the war was judge advocate of the second division of the state militia. Gov. Edwin D. Morgan, soon after his inauguration, selected him to fill the position of engineer in chief of his staff. In 1861 he held the post of inspector general, and soon afterward was advanced to that of quartermaster general, which he held until the expiration of Gov. Morgan's term of office. When Mr. Arthur became quartermaster general he was poorer still, though he had opportunities to make millions unquestioned.

At the expiration of Gov. Morgan's term Gen. Arthur returned to his law practice. Business of most lucrative character poured in upon him, and the firm of Arthur & Gardiner prespered. Gradually Mr. Arthur was drawn into the arena of politics. President Grant hominated Gen. Arthur to be collector of the port of New York in 1871, and at the expiration of his term renominated him. He was removed by President Hayes on July 12, 1878, despite the fact that two special committees made searching investigation into his administration, and both reported themselves unable to find anything upon which to base a charge against him. In their pronunciamentos announcing the change, both President Hayes and Secretary Sherman bore official witness to the purity of his acts while in office.

Upon the selection of Gen. Garfield, Mr. Arthur was nomicated by acclamation for the vice presidency.

Upon the death of President Garfield, Vice President Arthur was aworn in as his successor on the 20th day of September, 1981.

Mr. Arthur was married in 1850 to Eilen Lewis Herndon, of Fredericksburg, Va., a daughter of Capt. William Lewis Herndon, of the United States navy, who had gained honorable distinction when in command of the naval expedition sent to explore the river Amazon, and who was lost on the Central America in 1857.

Shortly after leaving for New York, upon the expiration of his presidential term, Mr. Arthur's health was announced as falling, and much solicitude was expressed by his friends. Recently, however, they have been inspired by hope, on account of what

If the commission sanctions the transfer, the imperial treasury will advance the amount, the commission paying four-fifths to the landlord and retaining the other fifth until the tenants' annual instalments amount to one-fifth of the stipulated sum. The tenants' repayments shall extend over thirty-nine years, with interest at 4 per cent. per annum, as in the Ashbourne act. The total necessary to be guaranteed by the treasury is estimated at £25,000,000. The sales under the Ashbourne act having already exhausted the parl'amentary grant of £5,000,000, it is reported that the government, trusting to parliament's retrospective sanction, has ordered the treasury to continue to make advances. THE BROADWAY BONANZA.

-The Opening Address-A Sensation. NEW YORK, Nov. 18 .- The case of ex-Iderman McQuade, charged with accepting a bribe of $10,000 to induce him to vote for the granting of the Broadway franchise, vas resumed in the general sessions court o-day. District Attorney Martine deliv ered the opening address to the jury, impanneled after three days' work. He said that the case was one of considerable importance to the people of the state of New York as well as to the defendant. The jury had, no doubt, thought that the lawyers is the case were too particular, but he assured them that no time had been misspert, and he intended to see that perfect, even, and exact justice was done. He reviewed the case and said that he could not conceive the case and said that he could not conceive so great a bonanza as this road along Broad-way had been, and there was no wonder it had been so eagerly sought. He then re-viewed the procedings of the secret meet-ing of the board of aldermen at which the veto was overridden, the second petition of the Broadway company and the aldermanic consent the second veto of Nov. 24, and ment, the second veto of consent, the second veto of Nov. 24, and the succeeding meeting at which the second veto was overridden. The accused was present at these meetings. The district attorney disclaimed any desire to drag the accused aldermen to prison, but as a public servant he had to perform a duty.

The testimony then began. Francis J. Toumey, clerk of the board of Aldermen, who was clerk in 1884, was under examination, when the court took a recess out of respect to the memory of Gen. Arthur, the judge remarking that owing to the importance of the trial an adjournment for an extended time would be unwise. After recess Clerk Toumey resumed his testimony. At the evening session ex-Alderman and Informer Charles B. Waite was put on the witness stand. He was a member of the Informer Charles B. Walte was put on the witness stand. He was a member of the railway committee of the board of '84. He remembered a petition filed in June, 1884, for a franchise for the Broadway road. He remembered a resolution by Alderman O'Comor, in effect that all franchises should be sold at auction, and that this resolution was referred to the railroad committee. The committee, however, recommended that the franchise be granted to the Broadway Surface road. The hearing before the committee lasted several hours. The report was drafted by the committee, and was put in shape by the Broadway Surface Railroad Company. [Sensation.] Adjourned.

THE CASE OF CONSUL JONAS.

All Objection to Him Withdrawn by the Austrian Government.

It is learned at the Department of State that the reappointment by the President of Charles Jonas, of Wisconstn, as United States consul to Prague has no bearing upon the case of Mr. Kelley, who had been nommated as minister to Austria, nor can it be construct to indicate a purpose on the part of either the United States or Austria to recede from the position assumed in that case. Although the statement was published at the date of Mr. Jonas's original appointment lust year that the Austrian government had refused his exequatur on the ground that he had been concerned in a conspiracy against the life of the emperor, yet the charge was effectually disproved by Mr. Jonas, and no objection was made to his appointment by the Austrian government on that score. The real objection was one suffred provincial in itsuature. Mr. Jonas formerly resided in Prague, and was a member of one of the two powerful factions into which the lubabitan's were divided. His assignment to the post of United States consul at that city was in consequence received with ill-favor by the faction to which he had been opposed, and this fact was deemed of sufficient weight by the Austrian government to justify an objection to the appointment. Mr. Jonas returned to Europe before reaching his post, and repaired to his home in Wiscon sin. Meanwhile, the Austrian government had isquired further into the matter and after satisfying itself that there were no substantial objections to the reception of Mr. Jonas, the protest against the appointment was withdrawn, and, as Mr. Jonas was still urged for the post by a large number of Germans and Bohemians in Wisconsin, his appointment was renewed.

COMMITTEE OF ONE HUNDRED

CITIZENS OF SOUTH WASHINGTON OR-GANIZE FOR THEIR PROTECTION.

Complaining That They Are Ignored-Pail to Receive Their Share of Street Improvements-Legislation to be Invoked in Their Behalf.

The property owners of South Washingon have for a long time contemplated the nanguration of a movement looking to the aprovement of their section of the city, selfeving that in the past they have not sceived as great a portion of the money ppropriated for public works as they were entitled to. With a view to rectifying this equality and to urge improvements in their section they have formed an organization called the "Committee of One Hundred Taxpayers of South Washington," with the following officers: President, C. B. Church; vice pesident, A. F. Barker; secretary, G. T. Thompson: treasurer, A. Archer; financial secretary, H. K. Gray, and the following executive committee: J. T. Patty, S. H. Winseatt, J. E., Morgans, W. T. Walker, E. Caudwell, J. W. Birckhead, R. A. Walker, Dr. D. H. Hazen, L. Gardner, J. G. Vermillion, Wm. H. Baum, W. A. H. Church, Dr. R. B. Donaldson, Thes. H. Walker, C. M. legislation is secured to bring to the atten-tion of the commissioners the needs of South Washington, and it is desired to give it the powers of an advisory board by the recommendation of which street and other improvements will be made. The first general meeting of the commit-tee was held last evening at the Jefferson school building, corner Sixth and D streets southwest C. B. Church presiding. About fifty members were present. Mr. Church stated the objects of the meeting as follows: The condition of advises in the section of our stated the objects of the meeting as follows:

The condition of affairs in this section of our city, affacting most injuriou-by our wolfare and contion, and depriving us of rights guaranteed to every citizen of the District, call for more united and determined action toward securing such remediat and beneficial legislation as may be just and equitable.

You, gentlemen, have been convened as an association of taxpayers, selected from every precinct embraced within the limits of the section known as South Washington, to consider and decide upon such a fource course of articles as they seem to you right and proper.

Four things demand immediate and prompt attention.

satient as upon seen a routine course of satient as upon seen to you right and proper. Four things demand immediate and prompt attention.

First. The atreets: some of which were so badly constructed in the first place that they are now become dangerous not only for horses and vehicles, but to pedestrians as well. The sidewaits, too, in many places are saffly in the first place that they are now become dangerous not only for horses and vehicles, but to pedestrians as well. The sidewaits, too, in many places are saffly in the date of the place of the place of the same of the same of the mathorites, beveral of the highways, also, leading into this section should be looked after. Noticeable among these is the Long bridge. That viadunt by an act of Commiss, passed in 1877, was turned over to the halimore and Potomac Raifroad Company on condition that it should as all times remain a free bridge for public use, and be maintained in good repair for ordinary travel. It is now greatly out of repair.

Second. The sewers. The manner in which part of the saverage was constructed by the contractors under the late based of public works was such as to endancer the beatth of public works was such as to endancer the beatth of many of us. In some cases the rook of trees have grown into and choked up the entire sewer, thus throwing all the sawage, with its foul odors, back into the houses. In soveral instances the very foundations of the houses have thus been undermined. This subject calls for immediate attention.

Third. The water supply. For some unknown cause the water supply has by degrees been in a great measure cut off from this section, until of late it is almost impossible to get water, even on the ground inforce between a octick in the morning and? In the evening. How this happens is a mystery, for it would seen, that there should be no sacreity of water in this perific or the city. But this, no doubt, can be remedied as soon as the cause is discovered, by a little care and attention on your part. Fourth. The mitroud, lin at the transverse streets. The accident to Mosors, Havener and Gullek resterday evening in attempting to cross Maryland avenue was in a great measure owing to the large number of box cars parked on the avenue. These cars hid from view the approaching engine and train. The accident could readily have been avoided if our governors would only execute the laws as laid down by our courts, bearing upon the use of Maryland avenue for freight yard purposes. The company does not beed the judgments and varinings of the courts, but the commissioners should so soon as their attention is called to them by a long-suffering community. Street obstructions should be removed in South Washington as elsewhere, and equal protection by law gnaranteed to all sections of the city alike. Such indignities as are beaped upon us would not be tolerated in any other part of the elsy. Let us see if by some united action we may not able to the nature.

These, gentiumen, constitute the principal grievances you are called upon to set right, and have every reason to believe that market improvements with follow intelligent and united action on our part.
